Information about your subscription

Hello «firstName»,

20 June 2025

Soon your BrandName subscription will reach its contract end date. The Telecommunications Law requires us to inform you about this, even if you are switching to another provider, have canceled one or more numbers, and/or have indicated you no longer wish to receive messages from us.

What happens after the contract end date?

After the contract end date, the current contract will continue. The subscription can then be canceled at no cost with one month's notice.

Need advice or want to renew directly?

Interested in learning more about BrandName subscriptions, the latest phones, or need personalized advice? Check online via My BrandName or through the BrandName app.

Kind regards,
